Performance Returns

The North MaxQ Macro UCITS Fund (USD Inst. Class) return for the November 2017 period (25th October 2017 to 29th November 2017) was -3.34% bringing the year-to-date return to -9.29%.

Fund Overview

The North MaxQ Macro UCITS Fund is a global macro fund that seeks to generate absolute positive returns over a market cycle that is uncorrelated to other global macro managers, the broad fund universe as well as interest rate, foreign exchange and equity indices. The investment manager identifies micro-economic and country specific imbalances to develop views and corresponding trading strategies. These strategies provide a diverse source of alpha and are expressed through thematic, relative value, counter-trend and quantitative exposures. The exposures are constructed to offer the best asymmetric payoff, while minimising expected correlations and providing protection against downside gap-risk. The investment manager prefers to take risk across a number of different strategies. Risk is monitored in real-time at the strategy and portfolio level and individual strategy stop-loss limits are established at the inception of each trade.

Monthly Market Commentary

November saw equity markets reach cyclical highs driven by robust economic data releases. President Trump came a step closer to his first legislative victory as Senate Republicans passed a historic tax bill, which will reduce corporate tax and if passed should result in increasing government debt. In Europe, the UK government and the Commission agreed that Brexit negotiations would move to the next phase, while, in Germany, coalition talks continue, and upcoming elections in Catalonia and Italy are potential risks for the market. In the Eurozone, PMI data reached a six year high, suggesting continued strong momentum for the economy, although we anticipate this will soften and inflation will remain below the ECB's forecast. Therefore, we do not expect the ECB to make any changes to the October QE plans and expect the EUR and interest rates to trade sideways, and equities perform positively. In the UK, data continued to be lacklustre as Chancellor Hammond presented the November budget, announcing downgrades to economic forecasts and productivity. In Europe, both the NOK and SEK came under renewed pressure, and weighed on fund performance, however, we remain bullish on both currencies. Norwegian economic data has been positive, with inflation prints as the only outlier. The recent weakness in the Swedish housing data should be welcomed by the Riksbank, and the rest of the economy is robust. This could allow both central banks to bring forward their rate hiking cycle. In the US, we expect the tax cut to support the dollar, as this should keep the Fed hiking in line with the "dot plot".

Performance Attribution

Out of a total of 45 strategies that were active during the month of November, 13 had a positive return, 17 had a negative return and 18 were essentially flat. 5 strategies were added and 3 were closed.
