Performance Returns

The North MaxQ Macro UCITS Fund (USD Inst. Class) return for the September 2017 period (30th August 2017 to 27th September 2017) was -1.03% bringing the year-to-date return to -5.39%.

Fund Overview

The North MaxQ Macro UCITS Fund is a global macro fund that seeks to generate absolute positive returns over a market cycle that is uncorrelated to other global macro managers, the broad fund universe as well as interest rate, foreign exchange and equity indices. The investment manager identifies micro-economic and country specific imbalances to develop views and corresponding trading strategies. These strategies provide a diverse source of alpha and are expressed through thematic, relative value, counter-trend and quantitative exposures. The exposures are constructed to offer the best asymmetric payoff, while minimising expected correlations and providing protection against downside gap-risk. The investment manager prefers to take risk across a number of different strategies. Risk is monitored in real-time at the strategy and portfolio level and individual strategy stop-loss limits are established at the inception of each trade.

Monthly Market Commentary

Recent data suggests an increasingly strong global recovery, however, this has not led to a pick-up in inflation or wage growth, but to conditions of low interest rates and relatively high corporate profitability. Some indicators are now suggesting that wage inflation is finally beginning to pick up which will result in monetary policy tightening, especially by the Fed, which should have a substantive effect on asset prices. Eurozone economic releases remained positive in September. The market is focused on the ECB's October meeting and we expect that they will guide to a low-for-longer rate path as inflation remains below their forecasts. As such, we have a short bias on the Euro and a long bias on Eurozone equity indices. Elsewhere, the Fund remains short Sterling, long the Norwegian Krone and Swedish Krona. Sterling received a boost in September as rhetoric coming from the Bank of England suggested a rate hike at its November meeting. Although surprising, due to the sluggish economic data, we suspect they are reversing the post Brexit emergency cut, rather than starting a period of rate hikes. During September, we increased our short FTSE 250, which should underperform based on fundamentals. US September data was positive and at its meeting, the Fed announced plans for its balance sheet reduction and suggested that a hike at its December meeting is likely. The Fund remains long the USD, mainly against the Australian Dollar.
